Re: Agenda Request for Discussion on Mobile Command Vehicle

Chad Peterson, Commission Chair,

Over the past several years, the Cass County Sheriff's Office has been trying to obtain a Mobile Command Vehicle for critical incidents and significant crime scene investigations. The cost for a new Mobile Command Vehicle with Incident Command capabilities has been priced anywhere from $150,000 to $250,000. We have been notified that Casselton Fire is getting rid of its Mobile Command Critical Incident Response Vehicle, and I believe that this vehicle would fit our Mobile Command Vehicle needs. In addition, the vehicle is already equipped with some of the amenities that we would like to include with our up fit. Casselton Fire offered to sell us their vehicle for $40,000. I want to bring information about this vehicle, what we would use it for, and how it can benefit our emergency preparedness plans and needs, all while being fiscally responsible to our citizens, to you as commissioners to best discuss responsible next steps in potentially making the purchase. I respectfully request that this discussion be held at the next commission meeting agenda.

Respectfully,

Jesse Jahner

Cass County Sheriff's Office
